

MUKDEN IS THE HAVEN

Toward Which the Russian Troops Are Directing Their Retreat.

Emperor Has Issued a Ukase,

Calling All Reserves in European Russia to Go to Front. Heavy Firing in Direction of Port Arthur Indicate Imminence of General Assault.

TOKIO, AUG. 20.—THE JAPANESE TROOPS OCCUPIED ANSHANSHAN YESTERDAY AND THE RUSSIANS HAVE RETREATED TOWARD MUKDEN.

ST. PETERSBURG, AUG. 20.—THE EMPEROR HAS ISSUED A UKASE SUMMONING TO THE COLORS ALL THE RESERVE OFFICERS THROUGHOUT THE EMPIRE.

CHE FOO, AUG. 20.—7:30 P. M.—THERE IS A RUMOR CURRENT HERE. THE SOURCE OF WHICH CANNOT BE LEARNED, THAT THE JAPANESE HAVE BEEN REPULSED AT PORT ARTHUR.

London, Aug. 20.—A despatch to a news agency from St. Petersburg, says news has reached the admiralty there to the effect that the missing Russian cruiser Novik has arrived at Kordakevsk, a port of the island of Sakhalin and that the Russian cruiser Diana concerning whose fate there had been considerable anxiety, has been seen off Hong Kong.

Che Foo, Aug. 20.—10:30 p. m.—The steamer Pechili just arrived here was overhauled and boarded by a Japanese destroyer and five torpedo boats, six miles off Liao Tien Shan last night. An officer from the destroyer stayed on board for forty minutes conversing with the Japanese consul to New Chwang, who was a passenger for Che Foo. The sound of firing was so heavy occasionally that conversation was difficult. The Japanese explained that they were engaged in shelling the Russian positions with the utmost vigor preparing for an assault today towards daybreak. When the Pechili was permitted to proceed on her course, the firing was at its heaviest and it was believed to indicate the imminence of a general assault.

Shanghai, Aug. 20.—Morning.—The report that the taotai has ordered the Russian torpedo boat destroyer Grozovoi to cease making repairs at once and to leave this harbor before noon today or disarm, is confirmed, as is the report that the Russian cruiser Askold has received orders from the taotai to leave Shanghai before noon on Monday or disarm. It is said to be impossible for the Askold to cross the bar before the spring tides and it is the belief in official circles that both the Grozovoi and the Askold will disarm.

He Drew Lessons. Tsing Tau, Aug. 20.—The correspondent of the Associated Press asked Captain Matousevitch, of the battleship Czarevitch the late Admiral Witthoff's chief of staff in the hospital what lessons he deduced from the naval fight of August 15th. The Captain was too weak to reply at length but said conclusions might be drawn from that the fact that the 12 inch guns were accurately served and did the most damage, and that while the Russians at one time were beset by thirty six torpedo boats and destroyers, the latter's fire was very inaccurate and did little damage.

Confiscated His Papers. Esing Tau, Aug. 20.—4 p. m.—The Japanese protected cruiser Yaeyama, has just anchored here and landed Major Hoffman, the German military attaché who was at Port Arthur. The major left the fortress in a junk at the German emperor's orders. The Japanese cruiser picked him up thirty miles out, and, it is reported, confiscated his papers. Major Hoffman's personal baggage was left on the junk.

MOBILIZING All the Reserves in the Russian Empire Quick.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 20.—8:10 a. m.—The official messenger today announced the mobilization of the reserves in four districts of the Poltava government, two in the Kursk government, two in the Tver government, one in the Samara government, four in the Saratoff government, two in the Astrakhan government, one in the Ufa government, five in the Simbirsk government, one in the Perm government, two in the St. Petersburg government, three in the Novogorod government, three in the Pskov government, one in the Volhynia government, seven in the Archangel government and seven in the Olonetz government.

DEFEATS Only Serve to Increase Determination To Hurry on Reserves.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 20.—The defeats which the Russians have suffered only seem to increase Russia's determination to hurry reinforcements to the front. The imperial ukase published this morning, ordering the mobilization of forty-five additional districts calls to the colors the reserves of about one-tenth of European Russia. Considerably over half the first class reserves of European Russia have now been called out and principally all the reserves in Siberia. It would appear that the latest news from the front had not been made public in St. Petersburg when the above despatch was filed, as it was announced from Tokio that the Japanese troops had occupied Anshan-shan and that the Russians had retreated northward. Anshan-shan is situated midway between Hal Cheng and Liao Yang. The latter was defended by a fortified semi-circle of positions, enabling the Russian forces to be concentrated easily and moved along inside the lines. The other main Russian positions in the semi-circle referred to were An Ping, about half way to Liao Yang and some twenty miles southeastward of it. Aikhaich about forty miles due east of Liao Yang, and Lian Shan, 24 miles southeast of Liao Yang. It was pointed out in a recent despatch from Liao Yang that the main Russian position would be stronger when they retired from Anshan-shan.

BATTLE Today Is Directed Against Port Arthur. Defenses Falling Fast.

Che Foo, Aug. 20.—4 p. m.—M. H. Hui, the Japanese consul general at Tien Tsin, who arrived here today on the British steamer Pechili, and who had a conversation lasting forty minutes with a Japanese torpedo boat destroyer which overhauled the steamer off Liao Tai promontory last night says that today's battle, which began at daybreak, is directed against the fortress itself. It is taking place along the entire line, and it is Japan's supreme effort to which the recent battles were but preliminary contests. He added:

"I firmly believe that you can safely say that Port Arthur will soon be in our hands. One after the other of the outer defenses have been taken by the Japanese and when the latter had completed their preparations for the grand assault, General Stoessel was asked to surrender. He refused. Now comes the final test."

Floating Dock Total Loss. London, Aug. 20.—Information has been received to the effect that a floating dock which was on its way from St. Petersburg to Libau, or to the use of the Baltic fleet is a total loss having been broken in two.

REJOICING Over Report That Kuropatkin Has Driven Japs From Palichwang.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 20.—10:15 p. m.—The report from Che Foo that the Russians have driven the Japanese out of the position at Palichwang (Polungchang) whence they had been bombarding the forts of Port Arthur was received with considerable gratification at the war office, where it was regarded as evidence that the defenses are strong enough to even take the offensive when the occasion demands. For this reason the war office is not

SECTION OF WEST BOUND

Pennsylvania Express Ditched by Landslide. Four Trainmen Seriously Injured.

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 20.—The third section of west bound Cleveland and Cincinnati express on the Pennsylvania railroad ran into a landslide at Cone-waung, below this city, early today, and the entire train was ditched. The train carried no passengers and was made up of five express cars. Four of the train crew were seriously injured and were brought to this city for treatment. The injured: J. J. Hanley, conductor, Philadelphia, twisted back, lacerated limbs and internal injuries. Harry W. Hittmeyer, engineer, Philadelphia, bruised about arms and face. H. S. Shunk, Philadelphia, deep laceration of the left knee. George Feathers, express messenger, Philadelphia, bruises of body.

The landslide occurred just after the second section of the train had passed and before the track walker had time to warn the third section. Traffic was not interrupted, all trains being run around the wreck.

BACK TO THE CACTUS.

Washington, Aug. 20.—President Roosevelt left Washington today at 10 o'clock for Oyster Bay. The president's party was carried on a special train of two cars run as the second section of the regular ten o'clock train on the Pennsylvania. Oyster Bay will be reached at 5:30 p. m.

Worst Damage in Suburban Districts.

Cellars and Streets Flooded, and Gas Mains Washed Out.

New York Central Terminal Was so Badly Flooded That All Work Had to Be Suspended for Today.

New York, Aug. 20.—The heavy rain which began late last night and continued nearly ten hours without cessation, caused thousands of dollars worth of damage and inconvenience to hundreds of thousands of persons in this city. Cellars were flooded, streets became miniature lakes, water and gas mains were washed out and broken, and scores of excavations where building operations are in progress were filled with water which the overloaded sewers could not carry away. The flood caused the greatest damage at Williams and Franklin streets. At this point an excavation which had

HUNTING FOR HIS PROPERTY.

Supposed to Have Owned Valuable Oil Interests Which Cannot Be Located.

New York, Aug. 20.—A search of various safe deposit vaults in this city is being made in the hope of discovering securities and money supposed to have been left by Recorder J. C. Brown, of Pittsburgh, whose death from poison occurred more than a year ago. J. R. P. Brown, brother of the late recorder, is here conducting the search and circulars bearing on the matter have been mailed to all the large cities in the east. It is asserted that oil property amounting to several million dollars was owned by Brown and despite the fact that it produced a large income, only a little more than half a million has been traced. Thus far, no record of any holdings has been found in New York.

UNEARTHED REMAINS OF FAMOUS EXPLORER.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Portage, Wis., says: "While excavating for a new Baptist church parsonage the workmen have unearthed the remains of the famous explorer and trader, Pierre Pauquette. Historians have been searching for years to discover his body. Pauquette was born in Missouri in 1796. He lost his life at the hands of an Indian with whom he had an altercation relative to a treaty ceding the lands of the Winnebagoes to the government."

WORK OF REGULARS

Characterized as That of Rowdies By Governor Herrick.

Killing of Corporal Tanner,

Whose Body Was Shipped to His Home in Warren Today, Will Be Fully Investigated. Civil Authorities Will Have First Claim on Guilty Parties.

Athens, O., Aug. 20.—This city and camp Herrick are quiet today, although there is much comment over last night's clash between the United States troops and the Ohio National Guard. During the week there has been much feeling between the two classes, especially when militiamen on provost guard duty arrested regulars and took them back to camp. Governor Herrick, Major General Dick, Adjutant General Critchfield, General Wm. McMakin and others are investigating the actions of all those who were out of camp last night. The coroner's jury is arranging for the inquest on the death of Corporal Chas. Clark. Private Gay-ons of the Fourteenth U. S. artillery is still held because he was caught outside of camp with a loaded revolver of 38 calibre, the same size as the one with which Clark was killed. Governor Herrick said the fight was not the result of any action of the regulars as a whole against the guardmen, but was the work of rowdies among the regular troops.

That the regulars being armed, should attack men who, they positively knew, had no effective ammunition made the crime doubly dastardly. General Dick said a report was received at headquarters detailing the arrest of nine men from the 14th regulars.

Sergeant Wm. Blessing is improved but the attending army physicians still question his recovery. The rest of the men are improving. Senator Moore, of Athens, who was in the midst of the melee, says it was the most cowardly thing he ever heard of for a body of armed men to march down the street and premeditatedly attack a group of unarmed men who were on duty. Private Will Pond with the guard lost his scabbard, it being torn from him by a shot. Windows in the neighboring houses were broken. General Dick has instructed Col. Bryan, judge advocate of the guard to investigate every legal detail. The consensus of opinion among army men here is that the civil authorities have first claim on the guilty men.

Guards today are patrolling every public building, street and alley. The post mortem over the remains of Corporal Chas. Clark, Co. D, fifth Ohio National Guard, was completed today. The bullet pierced both lungs, severed the artery above the heart and lodged under the right shoulder blade. Corporal Clark's body was shipped to his home at Warren today. In the case of Sergeant Wm. Blessing, the bullet entered between the pelvic bones and lodged in the hip. He is in charge of Sergeant F. C. Cay, of the First Brigade hospital. All soldiers are ordered now to remain in camp and passes are forbidden. The arrest of additional regulars has brought out no new developments. The regulars are held on suspicion and charges against individual members will be made after an official investigation by both military and civil authorities.

DEATH COMES SLOW BUT SURE.

Frequent Bulletins From Bed Side of Senator Hoar Indicate Life Is Ebbing.

Worcester, Mass., Aug. 20.—Senator George F. Hoar was still alive early today. He was given a little opiate last night to ensure rest. It was admitted this morning that his condition continued very serious and the members of his family have remained constantly near him. Shortly after 8:30 o'clock this morning, Rockwood Hoar, the senator's son, issued the following bulletin: "There is no marked change. The senator has taken but little nourishment during the night and will probably take less hereafter. He has so good a constitution that his strength falls but gradually and the prospect is that his life will be prolonged several days and will end gradually and peacefully."

It was learned that the senator rested comfortably during the night. The noon bulletin was as follows: "The senator's condition remains unchanged. It still looks as if it would be a quiet fading away of his life."

MURDER SUSPECTED.

Coshocton, O., Aug. 20.—The body of John Studor, a wealthy widower, was found in Will's creek today by a searching party. It is believed he was murdered.

JAP SHELL BURSTING INSIDE THE GOLDEN HILL FORTS. With the capture of Wolf's Hill by the Japanese the fate of Port Arthur can no longer be doubted. No hope can remain once the yellow cannoniers have outgassed the czar's troops. From Wolf's Hill even the famous Golden Hill fortress can be shelled at a dejection of the Jap guns. A plunging fire of this sort brings speedy destruction. The drawing shows one of the Jap shells bursting inside the Golden Hill fort. The flight of the Russian fleet indicates clearly that the reports of Japanese failure are more than true.

ILLINOIS WAS DISCUSSED.

Visitor to Rosemount Brings Favorable Reports to Parker From State of Maine.

Esopus, N. Y., Aug. 20.—Clayton E. Rafts, of Chicago, who was speaker of the Illinois house of representative in 1891 and 1893, spent the forenoon at Rosemount discussing the Illinois situation with Judge Parker. He has offered his services to the national committee and expects to do campaign work in Chicago. Mr. Rafts has been visiting Maine and he brought a report to Judge Parker that the democrats will cut down the republican majority in that state.

KILLED AT GRADE CROSSING.

Eaton, O., Aug. 20.—Chas. Sheror, Jno. Moore and Miss Mamie Hill, were killed and Miss Bertha Hill, fatally hurt last night on a grade crossing. A Pennsylvania train struck the carriage in which they were riding. The four were returning to their homes at Richmond from Cedar Springs. They were prominent young people.

GRAY WILL DECIDE.

Wheeling, W. Va., Aug. 20.—T. L. Lewis, national vice president of the United Mine Workers of America, received a telegram from the conciliation board at New York, that there will be no strike in the anthracite coal region. All questions have been referred to Judge Gray and his interpretation will be final.

been made for a new building became a lake. Shoring timbers were washed out, the sides crumbled away and the earth under the water, gas and sewer pipes were torn down. As a result the pipes broke, necessitating shutting off gas and water supply for a large district. For a distance of 150 feet and half the width of the street, the pavement was washed away.

The big excavation from 44th street to 90th street on Lexington avenue, where the improvement work on the New York Central railroad terminal is being done, were so badly flooded that work was suspended for the day. In the suburban districts the conditions were even worse than in the city proper. The streets, sidewalks, street cars and elevated trains were submerged.

INSPECTED FORT THOMAS.

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 20.—Lieut. Gen. Chaffee today visited Ft. Thomas and made an inspection of the troops and the reservation. He leaves tonight for Chattanooga. When his attention was called to the clash between the regulars and the militia at Athens, he emphatically declined to express any opinion or to make any criticism, but said he regretted exceedingly that any such tragedy had occurred.

"De Gree is a highly educated man," remarked Van Alder. "He is a brilliant conversationalist, too, I delight to hear him talk." "I agree with you," declared Miss Gahner. "He is one of the most brilliant conversationalists I ever met. I just love to talk with him."

STORY TOLD SOUNDS FISHY.

Loomis Had Lost no Important Papers and Did Not Touch Southampton.

London, Aug. 20.—Consul General Evans said today that as the late F. Kent Loomis had lost no important papers and had never been to Southampton he did not think the story told by Franz Schneider who gave himself up to the police at Birmingham yesterday, accusing himself of stealing papers from a person at Southampton believed to be F. Kent Loomis, was even worthy of investigation.

GOVERNMENT OF PANAMA

Not Content With Present Extent of Territory, Is Reaching Out for More.

New York, Aug. 20.—Private advice received here from Buena Ventura, Colombia, are to the effect, says the Times that the government of Panama has stationed a military garrison at Nguila, a city at the affluence of the Atrato and San Juan rivers. If this news is correct, the Panama Republic has assumed formal possession of a wide strip of the Colombian department of Cauca, which, according to a map of Greater Colombia issued in 1830 at Caracas, was originally the southern extremity of the old department of Panama. If Panama succeeds in maintaining her hold, she will acquire an additional Pacific seaboard extending from the Isthmus proper south to Punta Limones, near the mouth of the Bauda river—a distance of 100 miles. The minimum width of the territory is eighteen miles, the greatest fifty-eight.

The news is said to have created intense excitement at Bogota, the capital of Colombia.

HARD REVENGE.

Zelenop, Pa., Aug. 20.—Charles Reichart, an Austrian, was found early today with his head crushed in. The murder is supposed to have the result of a grudge as he was recently a witness against some countrymen in a law suit and they swore revenge. Last night Reichart attended a ball and his enemies were also present. Liquor flowed freely and there were several fights. The men who threatened Reichart, have been arrested.

WINONA CONFERENCE.

Warsaw, Ind., Aug. 20.—The Tenth Winona Bible Conference and international gathering of Bible students and Christian workers will begin its annual session at Winona Lake Sunday, August 21st, when the Director Rev. J. Wilber Chapman, will deliver the opening sermon. All phases and topics of religious works are to be discussed by some of the leading pastors of England, Scotland, Canada and the United States.

A Smart Sailor.

Large Sleeves on the New Gowns With a Corresponding Width of Brim on the Hats.

With the increased width that is very apparent in the newer gowns, it is to be noted that the hats have taken on a corresponding width of brim, thus balancing the figure artistically. Two very good examples are pictured on this page.

For all-around service there is nothing that can take the place of the new sailors. The one pictured shows a design that will be equally suitable for the morning shirtwaist suit or for the more dressy afternoon toilette. The color is one of the new burnt straws, and is simply trimmed with a square Louis XVI bow of black velvet ribbon across the front, and a tight cluster of California poppies in shaded yellows and browns on either side. There is a very shallow bandeau in the head size at the back, which gives the sailor a becoming tilt over the face, and a full bow of velvet ribbon with many loops and ends falls in the back, some of the loops falling on the hair.

The so-called picture shapes are to experience a marked revival in the near future. An almost universally becoming model is that in the illustration, which shows a black straw faced with tiny small folds of black velvet. The crown is quite high, somewhat square, while the trim sets closely to the head at the back and is becomingly broad in front. In each of the facing folds a wire is run, so that the shape may really be bent to the curves most suitable to the wearer. The sole trimming is a long double-tipped ostrich plume that is draped around the crown, the tips falling on the hair in the back, and the touch of color relief—a very prominent and conspicuous item in the newer fashions, but it must be applied with discrimination—if afforded in the white egret plume that is posed at the right side. The left side curves upward gracefully, and the narrow velvet-colored bandeau has a scant clasp of black tulle against the hair.

This is a silk season no one who has watched the fashions will gainsay. The model picture, which formed part of the recent exhibition of the International Society of Dressmakers at their Salon de Style, is a creation from Beer, whose productions are copied the wide world over. The taffeta is in a soft shade of masticque shot, with a dull blue, the oriental embroideries showing scarlet, blue and gold on an unbleached linen ground. The corsage is built upon the bolero order sketched in the center seam, and hanging over a fitted boned bodice. Yoke and sleeves are of a square meshed net, covered with tiny bouillottes of silk, and the skirt, which is pleated deeply to the band, uses this same idea as a wavy heading to the very full flounce that is shirred on below the knee. This flounce is faced with a broad bias band of masticque velvet, this affording firmness and stability at the foot, and insuring the correct contour to the very sheer silk.

Many who are not in mourning have a decided fancy for the all-black costume, and carry out the idea in millinery as well, though the fact of its not being strictly a mourning garb is usually indicated by the gloves, these being either white, pearl or the new masticque shades.

The simple smart design is in black moneybak messaline, with shirred cords and a novelty mohair braid. The bodice is shirred to a shallow shoulder yoke and sags all around over the boned belt, which shows a marked point in front. The sleeve is a bouffant puff hanging loosely over an undersleeve. The skirt has a shaped front gore, the sides and back shirred to the band, and a broad row of the novelty braid appears above the velvet-bound hem. The hat, a fancy rough black straw, is draped with ostrich plumes, no other trimming appearing. Needless to add that the shiny black shoes, either in patent kid or cloth, is the correct accompaniment of the all-black costume, whether it be intended to indicate mourning or not.

The fancy for having the neck cut out in irregular lines and inserting any one of a number of separate chem-

series is one of the novel features of the late summer styles. On very warm days it is not considered at all incorrect to omit the chemise, and follow the Parisian fashion of low neck for daylight and out-of-doors wear. The linen gown is fashioned upon such lines, pleated to the shoulder seams, and invisibly fastening at one side of the plastron front. The sleeve is particularly good, with its moderate top and deep pleats above the downward flaring cuff. The skirt has a shirred front, shallow hip yoke across the sides and the back falling in a broad double box pleat at the waist.

In the newer modes it would seem as though the designers had exercised their ingenuity to the utmost to find out just how much material they could incorporate in a simple frock and yet not make it bulky or bulky, nor overdone the design. A very successful illustration of this novel tendency is seen in the frock of white museline, with its filmy rills of lace and broad bands of silky white masticque that show a hint of cold in the waves. Such an alluring quality is that it may be played into the waist, the material is said to have been used in the making of the gown. The collar and round yoke are formed of varying sizes of the heavy and light flat over a tucked piece of museline, a shallow lace chemise band around the throat. To this the blouse is shirred, fastening in the back with tiny gold buttons, and three gold embroidered buttons decorate the front. The upper sleeve is pulled and the lower banded with lace rills. The skirt is ranged to the band, a flounce pulled at knee depth, having a Parisian poof at the bottom.

By Our Special Correspondent Miriam Spicer.

Presently is the only term that can be properly applied to many of the new fashions, and it is so because that before these same fashions are adopted by the general public there may be much punting, for if wearers generally is to adopt the styles as they are now proposed the effect will border on the ludicrous. While over-trimmed skirts require the most careful work, they must stand on their own feet, and the fact that they are not more little wraps, or a marked feature of their interest at and still frames in the manner of a picture. Fichus, capes, some of the shirt and double bodice can run the risk the hem and also through a narrow casing further up in the skirt have been used, the smart cut skirt does not require such artificial aids to success, but owing to its cut drapes sufficiently to be in the height of fashion.

Very gradually the fashionable silhouette has changed, until from the clinging, clinging model of a year ago, nobody's sleeve and skirt stand out as if centrifugally.

Over and over it is said that these days are hard, but they no longer dress as they did. Breadth has been taken on. This is accomplished in many ways. Sleeves now are fullest just above the elbow, and at that point is found the greatest width, but the upper part of the sleeve is under some restraint. It is becoming more full from the shoulder to elbow. There is one exception to this rule, the discrepant example. Here the sleeve is more or less close fitting its entire length, ending in a deep, wide cuff from which drapes a rill of lace. The great variety in the styles of hat while complete, has been more little wraps, or a marked feature of their interest at and still frames in the manner of a picture. Fichus, capes,

Such waists are not the easiest things to manage, and the home dressmaker who essays for the first time to cut from a new pattern will be tempted to believe that a mistake has been made in the shape of the armhole. That an opening of such unusual shape can in a human arm seems at first impossible. Instead of the perpendicular opening which had been the shape of the armhole for so long, there is now a horizontal hole that often looks more like a slash than an armhole. Yet, cut right, it fits with wonderful ease.

Silk party frocks lend itself to the voluminous, gathered skirts that are fitted by wide side pleats to the waist band. These deep pleats are fitted, but in reality decidedly elaborate are over the hips and lead in bondage there when such an effect is desirable. Ultra-feminine skirts set this order and green.

A most effective model is one made up in lavender for a shirt costume. This has a collar and small yoke and cuffs of white, there is a rounded yoke back, and at the front the lace is braided slightly from the shoulder, making the yoke about three inches deep at the sides. Just in front the lace is carried down six inches, that is, from the collar, making here a deep yoke about four inches wide. At the end of this strip is a narrow batiste ruffle edged with lace, about four inches deep in all. Where the yoke joins the waist is a narrow band of cording or shirring, and there are two other parallel bands of the linen gathered in this way on the waist. The sleeves have two big puffs and a deep cuff of white, with another bit of the batiste ruffle under the cording equal distances apart, there being from four to five rows in each piece cording.

A very attractive costume of white cloth has the favorite triple skirt, each section of which is cut in deep scalloped. The finish of the boleros collarless neck extends in tabs below the bottom of the jacket. The sleeves are the three-quarter length ones so much used in coats. Inlow they extend the puff puffs finished with lace frills of the blouse sleeves, the dress trimmed with embroidery in dull silver and guipure motives in relief. A large white clip hat which accompanied this gown has a band of black velvet drawn through a large, handsome buckle.

It might be safely said that taffeta takes first place among all light summer silks, and in a few rare colors. For light gowns blue and lavender are exceptionally attractive and quite unlike the old dull colors. Exquisite shading is a factor in all silks of today, and in fact color is seen far more this year in all gowns, and white, although smart, holds rather a second place.

The favorite form of trimming for gowns of this season seems to be gathered cording, and, on taffeta gowns this cording is particularly good. A narrow silk or cotton cord is run between tiny pleats of the material, and the cord is then drawn slightly, so as to gather the silk. Although wide skirts are very fashionable, taffeta is naturally stiff, and too much fullness must not be given. Flowered silks are beginning to vie with the changeable taffetas for popularity. These fancy silks demand far less trimming than the solid colors. They practically trim them selves, as the taffeta is so very elaborate as to make much extra trimming seem out of place. Flowered silks are considered more generally becoming, but this is hard to believe when such fascinating colors as have been seen this season can be presented. On one very attractive taffeta costume the waist and a deep cape of silk made of two gathered bands of the silk, separated by a narrow band of velvet and finished with a full ruffle of moire ribbon, the same width as each band of silk. This cape encircled the shoulders in the form of a scarf. The sleeves were large and flowing, finished as the cape, and falling well over a cuff of soft lace, made as the lace collar. The skirt was shirred about the hips and left to fall from there, while some inches below the knees were two ruffles formed as the cape. This gown was made up in a "moss" colored taffeta, but what gave to it its particular charm and style was the soft cameo trim furnished by the different shades of the taffeta, the moire and the velvet, which were at the same time all of the same color. This model would be equally effective in pale blue or in delicately shaded lavender, which is now a smart.

When and linen duck has been made up for many of the smartest frocks for afternoon, as well as for morning. Dresses of linen, as well as the coats and skirts of this material, are being worn interchangeably with the shirtwaist dress of silk and pongee. For the city, because of the dip in the price, dark colors, or at least nothing lighter than apple green, will be worn. Gowns of linen are more fashionable this year than ever. Dresses on apparently simple lines, very much worn in linen. Blue in many shades is worn, as well as lavender and green.

Taken With Cramps.

Wm. Kirmse, a member of the bridge gang working near Littleport, was taken suddenly ill, Thursday night with cramps and a kind of cholera. His case was so severe that he had to have the members of the crew wait upon him and Mr. Clifford was called and consulted. He told them he had a medicine in the form of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy that he thought would help him out and accordingly several doses were administered with the result that the fellow was able to be around next day. The incident speaks quite highly of Mr. Clifford's medicines.—Elkader, Iowa, Argus.

Items of Interest Concerning
South Lima. Personal
Notes.

Last evening, during the storm, the wind detached the guy wires which held the electric light at the corner of Eureka and West streets, and three live wires were doing a volunteer fire works act on the pavements. People in that neighborhood say roaring, hissing and flashing of light caused by the wires coming in contact with brick, trees, etc., was something fierce. Guards were placed at a safe distance on the street near the scene, in order to warn oncoming people of danger, and fortunately nobody was killed or injured.

Bitten by a Dog.

"Tommy" Thompson, of east Eureka street, owns a dog, and the dog enjoys a fight. The other day, Wednesday, it conceived the idea that it could whip a large bulldog, and started for the brute. "Tommy" did not care about furnishing food for somebody else's dog, and accordingly attempted to pull his dog away. This enraged the little whelp, and it turned on its master and severely bit him on the left arm and wrist, and the wound is causing much pain.

Ribs Fractured.

Yesterday, John D. VanFleet, of east Third street, was so unfortunate as to fall from a pile of lumber at the south side Lumber Co's yards, and sustained fractures to three ribs on the left side. He will be unable to resume work for several weeks.

inclined to credit the reports that the Japanese have captured forts "No. 3" and "No. 4" just beyond Nagoushup hill, five miles northeast of Port Arthur. It is admitted that the possession of these forts would render the situation of the besieged desperate. The war office has no official information from the fortress going beyond August 8, 9, and 10, which probably was sent through the captured Russian torpedo boat destroyer Ryeshitel, although this is not admitted. This report tells of the desperate character of the Japanese attacks, which continued practically without intermission for forty hours.

General Stossel's reports of the assaults of August 11th and 15th are expected at any hour. According to the private information coming from Port Arthur by way of Chinese junk boats, that when the Japanese sent in the flag of truce Friday they conveyed a message to both the general commanding the fortress and the admiral commanding the squadron. According to the admiralty's information the battleship Retvitzan was the most unlucky ship in the harbor before the sortie of August 16th. Out of 153 shells entering the town, five struck the Retvitzan, wounding her captain and three other officers. She was also the only ship hit when the Japanese fired over Liao Ti mountain the extreme southern part of Kwang Tung Peninsula, during the earlier stage of the operations.

All the military operations in Manchuria have, it is asserted here, been stopped by the rains. Telegrams to the war office describe the terrible effects of the torrential downpours. Many bridges have been swept away and even traffic on the railroad is temporarily suspended. During this heavy weather General Kuropatkin has been busy inspecting the defenses of Anshunshan, Liandianshan and An Ping. It is understood that the garrison of Anshunshan consists of only four divisions.

Accidents come with distressing frequency on the farm. Cuts, bruises, sprains, Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil relieves the pain instantly. Never safe without it.

DISGRACIN' EM.

Amusing stories of Major Sam Early, a brother of General John A. Early, are still told in Charleston, W. Va., where he lived for many years before the civil war, says the New York Herald. The major was a bigoted old line Whig, who hated a democrat worse than a hobo does work. He had in his employ an Irishman whoaped his master in everything—dress, manners and politics.

Prior to a certain states' election, in which party spirit ran high, the demagogue had a torchlight procession. Imagine Major Early's chagrin and fury to behold marching in the van of his political enemies Pat, gloriously drunk.

He lost no time in dragging the faithless one from the ranks and heartily demanded the reason of his defection.

"Sh," answered Pat, with a maulin wink. "Don't yez see, O'm thriving to disgrace 'em?"

FAREWELLS IN PUBLIC.

New York Post—The little girl who said her prayers for a month in advance because she was going to the country and did not wish anything to interfere with her enjoyment, set an example to the devotee of perfume, jewelry, etc., if he could be induced to condense thirty of his good-bys into one he would have only one victim and earn the gratitude of twenty-nine potential sufferers. It is hard to understand why any one should take pleasure in public expression of sentiment, which, if it is genuinely regretful, carries pain to two hearts, if it is grateful is distinctly uncomplimentary, and if it is indifferent is meaningless; yet so erratic is human nature that beings of this sort exist. Indeed the break up of families after a death or a wedding or the summer exodus brings them out in such multitude as to astonish the most pessimistic critics of the tendencies of our race.

If there be anything sacred in a farewell between friends, it is not a subject for public exhibition; yet the chronic farewell maker always aims to travel in gangs. He comes in the car or steamer in force. He stays till the last warning is sounded, and then goes underfoot and in everybody's way and risks a dozen lives of more value than his own in the mad rush for terra firma. He intercepts the last word intended for another. He makes a mockery of the solemn thoughts that dwell in the hearts of those about to be separated and turns real grief to jest. He has a facility for impudence which would make him a millionaire overnight if such talents commanded recognition in dollars and cents. His special fondness, even when seriously and most kindly inclined, is to remind the aged mother that she may never see her child again, or to offer his sympathy to the husband on having to leave the side of his invalid wife when life is so uncertain.

"A short time ago I was taken with a violent attack of diarrhoea and believed I would have died if I had not gotten relief," says John J. Patton, a leading citizen of Patton, Ala. "A friend recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I bought a twenty-five cent bottle and after taking three doses of it was entirely cured. I consider it the best remedy in the world for bowel complaints. For sale by all druggists."

AMUSEMENTS.

Wednesday, John A. Preston in "Ingomar the Barbarian."
Thursday, "The Hottest Coon in Dixie."
Friday, Al. G. Field's Minstrels.

The Revival of Ingomar.

This great play will be seen at Faure opera house, next Wednesday, Aug. 24th. Messrs. Holden Bros. will be the pioneers to give it a complete production, and will present John A. Preston in the title role, surrounded by a strong supporting company and all scenery and costumes to produce he play in a thorough and artistic manner. The drama which is a translation from the German by Maria Lovell, has been on the stage intermittently for fifty-one years and has well stood the test of time.

"The Hottest Coon in Dixie."

What Francis Wilson and Frank Daniels are to be recognized comic opera so is Charles Williams to that ragtime revelation "The Hottest Coon in Dixie." This colored comedian is uniquely original in method, possesses the instinctive spirit of fun, and his every move and saying is provocative of unrestrained merriment. The prima donna of the organization, Miss Alice Royal, has been truly termed the Lillian Russell of the colored stage. "The Hottest Coon in Dixie" plays here next Thursday, August 25, at the Faure opera house.

Occasionally one hears the complaint made that the negro comedian isn't what he used to be and that the day of the old fashioned minstrel show is at an end. There can be no doubt but that the day of the old time and inexpensive minstrel show is at an end. With the Al. G. Field greater minstrels this season is a new face in the larger sphere of the minstrel world and it is safe to say that a more unctious and thoroughly negro comedian than Billy Clark is not and has not been on the American stage. Clark has the faculty of getting a laugh without straining a point and he is one of the few men who can not only concoct and write his own gags and monologues, but he also writes all his own songs.

In addition to Billy Clark, some of the old, and some new faces will be seen among the comedians this year. Al. G. Field will himself be seen on one of the ends this year, and Tommy Donnelly with new jokes and gags begins his nineteenth season with the Al. G. Field greater minstrels. Doc Quigley is again with the show and there are two new comedians who have not been seen with the Field forces in the past, Dan Holt and John Healy. The Al. G. Field's Greater Minstrels, will be the attraction at Faure opera house, next Friday, Aug. 26th.

It will not be very long before the theatre-goers of this city will have an opportunity to again shake hands figuratively speaking with "Yon Yonson" who is just in from Yumtown. Mr. Yonson has paid several visits heretofore to the great delight of the amusement-loving public, who found him to be a good fellow and delightful entertainer. "Yon Yonson" has been one of the most successful dialect comedies produced on the American stage. The feature of interest this year is the first appearance here of Mr. Charles A. Boyd in the stellar role. The other members of the company have been recruited from the ranks of the best available professionals obtainable, and each has been chosen for his or her special fitness for the character to be impersonated.

YOUR SUMMER OUTING.

A duty all people owe themselves that they may live long and prosper, is to take a certain amount of recreation. Brainworkers especially owe this to themselves. Their work is laborious and monotonous, and they should seek some means to have a change for a week or two at least, in some manner which is entirely different to what they see around them. The least expensive and most enjoyable we can recommend is a water trip. The accommodations are first-class in every way and very reasonable. Send 2c stamp for illustrated pamphlet.

MUST PROTECT THE JUDGE.

After the jury in a Texas case had listened to the charge of the court and gone to its room to deliberate upon the verdict, one of the twelve men went right to the point by saying, "That tar' Pike Murrow orter be convicted on gen'ral principles. He's bad as they make 'em."

As the hum of approval went around a weakened little juror said: "I heard that Pike giv' it out that he'd go gunnin' for us, if we sez him up; jest soon's he got out, and fur the judge, too."

"We must protect the judge," they agreed, and the verdict was "not guilty."—Detroit Free Press.

WEAK BROTH.

Charles J. Glidden who is making a tour of the world in his automobile, reached Boston recently. To a number of reporters he related his experiences and among other things he said:

"In Wales I put up one night at a remote tavern where an American lay ill.

"I called on the American, and we had a long talk together. He was not very ill, but after the manner of some invalids, he growled and grumbled a good deal.

"By Jove," he said suddenly, "I smell a chicken cooking. I am going to have some chicken broth.

So he ordered the broth, and in due time it was brought to him. The look of complaint vanished from his eyes on its arrival. For the first time, dipping his spoon in the liquid, he smiled.

"But he had no sooner tasted the broth than he emitted a dreadful oath.

"Weak," he said, "weaker than water."

"I suppose," I murmured, sympathetically, "that they just let a chicken wade through it."

"Well, if they did," growled the sick man, "the chicken was on s.l.t.s."

Bee's LAXATIVE Honey and Tar is different from all other cough syrups. It contains antiseptic properties to destroy the germs, solvent properties to cut the phlegm, and laxative properties to cleanse the system. Defending the democratic party in New York from the charge of making

Buffalo Courier (Dem.) touches upon
some of Roosevelt's combinations.
"For securing the nomination for a second term he has connived with the very basest elements of American political life. There is nothing in New York at once so low and so dangerous to public morals as Quayism and Addicksism."

THOSE REPUBLICAN INSURGENTS

Republican insurgents are growing very numerous this year and causing trouble on the reservation, even in such strongholds as Massachusetts and Pennsylvania. It is worrying and alarming the standpatters who are fearful of an outbreak in states
where the republican majorities are not large enough to stand a serious defection. In Massachusetts the insurrection is among the business men
and manufacturers, more than thirty thousand of whom are licensed over the reputation of the McKinley republican treaties and the imposition of a tariff tax or hides which largely
increase the profits of the beef trust
and does not benefit any other interest. The Massachusetts insurgents have already gone on the war path
and are determined to spill the political gore of Senator Lodge, the right
boxer of the national administration
at Washington, the author of the republican platform, and the boss of the republican machine in the Bay State.
The insurrection does not mean,
however, that the democrats will profit by it to the extent of carrying the election in Massachusetts in November, but it will make things so unpleasant for Senator Lodge and his associate managers that they will not have any time to assist the republican campaign in other states. In Pennsylvania the strongest of all the citizens of standpattism which has been

the greatest beneficiary of the so-called policy of protection which plunders the many to enrich the few
it appears that the farmers are getting excited and talking and acting in the manner of rank heretics. A few days ago there was a meeting of the executive and legislative committee of the State Grange at which among a series of questions prepared for the interrogation of candidates for congress was the following:

"Will you, if elected, assist in passing legislation which will enable American citizens to buy American products as cheaply at home as they are sold abroad?"

It is reasonable to suppose from this question that farmers of Pennsylvania understand that one of the effects of standpattism is to enable foreigners to purchase American goods
at lower rates than American consumers are compelled to pay, and that it is about time to revolt against this outrage and injustice, which a prohibitive tariff makes possible. This has grown to be a regular feature of the republican tariff policy, in spite of the fact that a few years ago Congressman Babcock of Wisconsin, a sincere protectionist, warned the standpatters in his party that such a policy could not be defended before
the people and it was only a question
of time when they would revolt against it. The Washington Post calls attention to the fact that at the present time a surplus of manufactured goods is systematically produced for export, and foreigners are getting many articles, that our farmers are compelled to buy, at a heavy discount
from the prices charged in this country. It is evident that the farmers of Pennsylvania have their eyes open at last and it will not be necessary for the democratic campaign committee
to send missionaries there to enlighten them on the tariff question.
It is safe to assume that if the farmers of such a republican stronghold as Pennsylvania refuse to accept the doctrine of standpattism it is sure to be kicked in the air by the voters of the close and doubtful states.

ABOUT PEOPLE.

Mrs. Gertrude Atherton likes Munich so well that she has decided to remain there another year. She is a present devoting herself to a study of Germany.

The value of the estate of the late Mayor Samuel M. Jones, of Toledo, is roughly estimated by his son, Percy Jones, in probate court, at $316,000,
of which $225,000 is personal property
and $21,000 real estate. The mayor left no will.

Mme. Zola has just presented to the manuscript department of the nation
at library in Paris all the manuscripts
of her late husband's works which she has been able to find among his papers. The missing manuscripts include those of "Nana" and "Fortitude."

The Italian novelist, Salvatore Pa-rina, recently delivered an address before the Society for Psychic Research
at Milan, in which he minutely described the case of an author who
six years ago completely lost his memory for language and names, while otherwise his mind was more active and wide awake than ever before. At the expiration of that period the memory returned. In concluding his lecture the speaker confessed that he was the author in question.

ATCHISON GLOBE SIGHTS.

"It's an outrage," a man said today.
Still, it's not the only one.

When you write a letter have you
a very good reason for writing?

A girl who can make good wedding
cake, is not always a good cook.

You can't blame anybody but yourself for the kin you have married on.
The larger the bunch of keys a man carries, the more worthless he is, as a rule.

When some men try to solicit, all
they get is cancellation of business on hand.

Fewer men are making fools of themselves over drink. Don't be one of them.

It is a tragic experience that every time a father sends out a relief expedition to his daughter, there is a new member to her family to come home on it.

There isn't anything very bad with any one who has his best times at home.

"If" in an offer to give something,
is generally a padlock with the key in
the river.

If your rest seems a long ways off,
think of the fellows who are never
to have any.

The fall of Port Arthur is not the only important event postponed from day to day.

When a man marries the second time, people wonder more than ever
what she looks like.

One trouble in making a mistake is that you have to let people walk on you for a while.

There is said to be a she-Jim Dumps
in town. Now what can a woman have to get blue about?

No matter how good a man is, if he and his wife get along well all
he credit is given to her patience.

It is noted that all of Japan's victorious generals are upwards of fifty years old. Fifty isn't old after you pass it.

An amusing sight is to see a really modest woman raise her dress too
high, by mistake, in crossing a muddy street.

We guess and speculate on things
we can't see, and some of us keep on messing and speculating after they are in sight.

You will never know how many people suffer with the earache until you go around with some cotton stuffing in one of your ears.

When people hear about your purchase, they nearly always say: "You did too much." They rarely say:
"You got it cheap."

A woman is foolish if she believes everything her husband tells her, but he is more foolish if she doesn't believe, and lets him see it.

An old maid, particularly, should hoard her money, there being no prospect that she may find refuge in a home for Drunkards' Wives.

A woman fusses at a man a week
out of the grass, and then she fusses
at him for the rest of the season because he cut some plants in doing it.

All the advice given brides by married women and women's magazines,
called down amounts to just this:
For heaven's sake, don't be a worm.

After people pass fifty, they become philosophic. That is, they don't let trifles worry them at meal time. It's admission that worries them at meal time.

A man feels a grievance because his wife wants to go everywhere he goes except when he comes to die, and then he feels wronged because she is so left behind.

The first time a woman has a touch
of indigestion she wonders why she is so sad, and decides that it is a premonition that something awful is about to happen to him.

The great big man who thinks he is brave because he is big, should sit down and think a little. The Japs, understand, are proving themselves to be the bravest men in history.

When a woman writes a letter she overes every thing from putting the ink pitcher out in the morning to be cut out at night, and then ends
with an apology because she doesn't write more.

If you are polite, others will have in ambition to be polite to you. Try

A Realistic Affair

(Original.)

Luther Upton had his own notions
about the treatment of those who for the first time acted criminally. One day
he left a twenty dollar bill on his desk,
went into another room for ten minutes, and returning missed the bill.
Calling his chief clerk, Frank Shepherd,
into his office, he said to him:

"Mr. Shepherd, a twenty dollar bill has been taken from my desk at a time
when no time but the clerk was present. Please tell them for me that if the one who took it will return it he will not be prosecuted nor even lose his position. He will remain on probation."

Shepherd went away and the next morning confessed that he was himself the thief. He laid a twenty dollar bill on his employer's desk, received a kindly but impressive lecture and withdrew. That night he wrote a note to Beatrice Chaffee, to whom he had recently become betrothed, telling her of the incident and offering to release her
from the engagement.

Let us take a back step in our story.
Shepherd had proposed, waited a day
for an answer, working himself into a fever lest he be refused, and at last received an affirmative reply. We hear a great deal of the inconsistencies of women; the inconsistencies of men are usually concealed. Frank Shepherd experienced a very severe case of masculine inconsistency. The day after his acceptance he sank into a state of melancholy. Whether this came from reaction, an overburdening sense of the obligations he was assuming or something of both, mingled with a great deal more, it is impossible to say;
nevertheless he would have given
worlds if he had not been accepted.

Beatrice Chaffee made no reply to
her lover's confession for several days;
then she wrote him that she was much influenced by what his employer had done—in fact, found herself in much the same position as Mr. Upton. She felt that she ought to give him a chance to redeem himself, and she had decided to do so. If he would come to her in two years with a record clean
from the time of his first sin she would give her answer a second time. Meanwhile they were not to have anything to do with each other, and he was to be free to marry any one else.

One inconsistency is liable to lead to another. First, Shepherd had been in terror lest the girl would refuse him;
second, plunged into gloom because she had accepted him; third, being free, he was plunged into new gloom because he was free. What distressed him beyond measure was that he was a confessed thief and must wait two years
to learn if he would be taken again into favor.

One day his employer called him into
his office and said to him:
"Shepherd, you didn't take that twenty dollar bill you confessed to have stolen."

"Why do you say so?"

"Something about your way of confession made me suspect that you were doing so to shield some one else. I left a marked bill on my desk, had the room watched by a detective and caught the thief."

Shepherd was silent.

The lady to whom you were engaged came to see me about the matter,
wondering if you did not have some motive in making a confession of having stolen what you did not steal. I have proved now that you did so to shield the real thief, your cousin, Mark Leonard."

Shepherd started.

"I have sent for you to say that Leonard will be treated with the same leniency I have shown you, and that you are not only exonerated from all
blame, but stand far higher in my estimation than ever."

After a pause Shepherd asked Upton
if he had informed Miss Chaffee as to these late developments, and received the response that he had left that pleasure to the man most concerned. Shepherd thanked him and was about to withdraw when he turned and said:

"I would like to have you inform Miss Chaffee that I am not the real thief, but say nothing as to the motive
for my confession."

Upton promised to do so at once.

There had come a crisis in Frank Shepherd's life. Emotional people run risks that other people are free from,
but so long as there is an undercurrent
of principle there is always a day of grace for them. All Shepherd had to do to be restored to favor was to let the matter stand on his employer's interpretation. Strangely enough, to do so was no temptation for him. He had preferred to be considered a thief to standing in the position of a man who had one day begged a girl to marry him and the next day asked her to release him. Now that he really wanted
the girl he seemed to take her under the false supposition that he had acted to screen his cousin. This is what he did. He wrote Beatrice Chaffee the following note, which reached her simultaneously with Upton's letter to her informing her that her lover was not a thief:

I had no sooner learned that you had consented to marry me than I was subject to a terrible reaction in which there entered many elements of doubt. When I was told that the money had been stolen
I confessed in order that you should break
our engagement. Events have since shown me that I shall be a wreck without you.

To this he received the following reply:

You are forgiven. I experienced a similar reaction myself.

"Frank," said Beatrice after they had met and gone over the whole matter
thoroughly, "I wonder if the goodly goods, heroic, noble people pictured in novels really exist?"

"Don't know," replied her lover.

"We're not that kind, anyway."

TORNADO DAMAGE IS

Not so Great in Either Lives Snuffed
Out or in Property Destruction
As It Was at First Expected.

In North St. Louis One Life Was Lost and Property Damaged to the Extent of Hundred and Fifty Thousand Dollars. Illinois Towns Heavy Sufferers.

St. Louis, Aug. 20.—A more thorough estimate of the damage done by the tornado which descended suddenly over a small area in North St.
Louis was made today by business men and others in the vicinity. In addition to the loss of one life and the injury to more than 150 persons, the damage wrought by the storm is now estimated at $150,000. Over half of that amount was done to manufacturing plants, the remainder being divided between owners of residence
property, more than 100 houses having been more or less seriously damaged. On the east side in the Illinois towns of Venice, Madison and Granite City, the damage is also greater than at first supposed. Two lives were lost in that vicinity, and many property owners suffered losses running from $2,000 down to $50.

After more than twelve hours of steady work by large gangs of men employed by the telephone and electric lighting companies, the streets
where the wind storm was felt most severely, are still littered with debris
from wrecked buildings and hundreds of feet of telegraph and telephone wires. Traffic was resumed on the Broadway car line today after having been suspended for more than eighteen hours although the sides of the street are still lined with wires
and telephone cables and the sidewalks
littered with broken poles and other wreckage.

THE GOVERNMENT OF ROUMANIA WON OVER.

Standard Finally Gains Entrance to Foreign Oil Field, Through Matchless Knowledge
and Patience of a Lima Man.

The Oil City Derrick of August 16th says:

The Roumanian American Petroleum
Company of Bucharest has been duly authorized by the government to entry on the business of producing, manufacturing and exporting oil in the Roumanian petroleum fields. This company presents another example
of American enterprise in Europe.
While the fact of large oil deposits in that section has been known for years, the natives have been very slow and, owing to lack of enterprise,
neglect on the part of the government,
and the competition of Russia and the United States, the developments have been of small consequence in supplying the world's demands for petrol-um.

The Roumanian American Petroleum Co., numbers among its representatives, Messrs. Lufkin, Page and Eggleston, three Bucharest representatives of the Standard Oil Co. It has been currently reported for several years that the Standard was seeking to enter the Roumanian fields and introduce American methods in the production of oil. There has been a great deal of opposition to this project, but, according to an English
financial publication, the Roumanian
government has finally become convinced that the new company does not aim at the monopolization of the petroleum industry of the country.

It is the expressed object of the Roumanian American Co., to carry on the business with the help of native
labor in the same way as the other
petroleum companies in Roumania,
and to raise the industry to the same level as the Russian and American oil industry. The company is said to be convinced of the inexhaustible
oil deposits in the country, and intends to undertake boring operations
in various parts, including localities
which have hitherto not been explored.
It is proposed to at once commence
the purchase of crude oil from small producers, who are to be offered favorable prices, and in the immediate future steps are to be taken to erect reservoirs and a large refinery, where special attention will be devoted to the recovery of by-products. The petroleum industry of Roumania will be greatly benefited by American enterprise, and enlarged markets for Roumanian oil will be one of the practical results.

The London Petroleum World, in commenting upon American enterprise in Roumania says:

"In performing the task—and it has been a great undertaking—the Standard has not created any bitterness of feeling; it has succeeded in making the foreigner less obnoxious in the eyes of the Roumanian people, and has earned for itself a position of favor in the country of King Charles. The Standard has done the petroleum industry a good turn by going into Rou-mania under peaceful conditions and
by the employment of nothing more formidable than sound business sense
backed up by tact and patience.

"Asked, at the start of the year to forecast the verdict of the Roumanian
government in the matter of the Stan-

ard Oil Co., we would not have haz-arded the guess that it would be favorable. The Standard had retired,
but not without assuring its friends
and supporters that it would return.
At that time the projects of the company were endangered by intrigues
set afoot by a number of powerful and hostile political partisans. In no part of the world have Standard officials
more conclusively proved the commendable value of tact and patience than they have done in Roumania. They have once again shown that they know how to await the day—that they have the patience and tact which are so necessary if intelligent opponents are to be disposed of. In Roumania they have overcome what were apparently insurmountable difficulties. The political feeling against the Standard was more than superficial—it was deep rooted and bitter, and the life of the political agitation was prolonged
by the denunciations of men holding high positions in the cabinet. There was also a hostile and unreasoning press. Behind these anti-Standard forces were numerous old men who,
misreading and misrepresenting the part played by the Standard in the petroleum history of the world, questioned the loyalties of the company and spread abroad the report that a dangerous and selfish monopoly was being aimed at. We describe in very moderate language the spirit of the times in which the negotiations were started when we say that the country
was up in arms against the great American power in the petroleum world.

The great change in public sentiment has been brought about by the exercise of tact and patience. The World declares that the success of the Standard in this field has been due to its active representatives. Mr. C.
F. Lufkin, Mr. Eggleston and Mr.
Page, it says:

"Mr. Lufkin has a matchless knowledge of the oil fields of the world. To a practical knowledge of the fields he adds a most valuable experience of the commercial and national peculiarities of oil men, and we should say that the authorities and all who have done business with the new company
in Roumania have found him scrupulously fair and gently persuasive. The Standard has been well served by these three representatives. Their task was never a light one, and the fact that their work has been successful speaks volumes for their tact
and patience, and shows that the Standard is still capable of making a fair
bargain in a foreign country."

WORDS

That Are Full of Praises

Are Given Out

By Teachers Who Were in Session.

Institute Closes After a Week of Successful Work by Those Concerned.

Committee on Resolutions Made Its Report, and the Teachers Take Action Looking to Their Individual Interests.

Good from beginning to end is the common expression heard as the thirty-eighth session of the Allen county teachers' institute draws to a close. The enrollment was the best ever had as 440 persons put their names on the secretary's roll book and many more, friends of the institute, were always on hand.

Before adjourning for the year, a county organization of the Ohio Teachers Federation was effected for the purpose of protecting the teachers in their work for the year and for securing better legislation for the schools. Practically all the teachers have joined their forces with the organization. Each of the instructors remembered this week as profitably and well spent. Professors Tussing and Foster brought words of good cheer and a hopeful outlook for the coming year. Dr. Blaisdell urged upon the teachers a sentiment of personal growth and mention the O. T. R. C. and the C. L. S. C. as a means of improvement. The report of the committee on nominations was adopted. Miss Rhoda Brown was the only officer to succeed herself. Miss Brown was elected secretary. Prof. J. T. Cotner and P. E. Kilgore were elected president and member of the executive committee respectively.

The report of the committee on resolutions was adopted unanimously. The report follows:

We, the committee on resolutions of the Allen County Teachers' Association in annual session assembled here to submit the following report:

Resolved, first, that a vote of thanks be tendered the Honorable Board of Education of the city of Lima, for the use of their high school room, Dr. T. C. Blaisdell of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Dr. T. Tussing of Chicago, and Sept. L. J. Foster of Caldwell, Ohio, for their excellent and practical instruction, their inspiring and thoughtful lectures. Miss Arthur Feltz, Misses Anna Roberts, Myrta Evans, Anna Ford, Mr. Harold Ford for discussing such beautiful and edifying strains of sweet music, the efficient corps of officers for their excellent services to the association and all others, who have in any way aided in making this meeting a success.

Secondly, that a fee of one dollar be charged for registration at the next annual meeting of the association, and that a card be given to each individual so registering, bearing his name and number.

Thirdly, section I, that it is the sense of the Allen County Teachers' Association, that all teachers contemplating asking their respective boards of education for certain benefits as provided by section 4091, revised statutes of Ohio, shall, before making application to such boards of education for such benefits, have fully complied with the necessary provisions of said section.

Section II, that we endorse the employment of any reasonable rules and regulations, however strict, tending to protect the school boards against any imposition.

Section III, that we condemn the use and employment of any subterfuge whatever on the part of any teacher to obtain a certificate of attendance.

Section IV, that we will co-operate with and assist any teacher of this association having fully complied with the provisions of section I of this article, in employing legal process to protect his rights under section 4091, revised statutes of Ohio, after such rights have been officially denied him.

Fourthly, that we take this means of expressing to Supt. C. A. Graham our appreciation of his efficient services as county school examiner for the past six years, of his impartiality and courtesy in dealing with all questions incident to the duties of his office, of his sympathy and co-operation with the teachers of the public schools, and of his educational worth to the state in general and to Allen county in particular.

Fifthly, that when we adjourn, we adjourn to meet the third Monday of August, 1905, subject to change by the executive committee to the second or fourth Monday of the same month.

Sixthly, that the secretary furnish a copy of these resolutions to the papers of Lima for publication, all of which is respectfully submitted.

GOLF TOURNEY IS FINISHED.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—On fair greens that were soaked from yesterday's rain and on green's that were slow on account of the heavy dew, H. E. Egan and D. E. Sawyer today began the long battle of 36 holes for the western golf championship title. For the third successive year Egan was a finalist. Once he won the title and last year he was beaten by one faulty stroke for the honor. It is the concluding day of the successful tourney at the Exmore County club links and the numerous subordinate events scheduled to maintain interest to the last hour, succeeded in attracting a big throng of keen golf critics despite lowering clouds and a continuance of threatening weather conditions.

STRIKE BREAKER IS FOUND UNCONSCIOUS.

THERE IS NO PEACE

In Sight Except That Packers Surrender on Conditional Terms.

Donnelly Has a Trump Card.

Declares the Ousting of Strike Breakers From Housing Rooms in Packing Houses Means Victory for Strikers. Packers Holding Conference.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—There is no peace in sight except on condition that the packers surrender and on conditional terms. When the people see the report of last night's meeting of the Chicago Federation of Labor, they will be astonished. "We have a trump card to play and it has been drawn from the deck," so said President Donnelly, of the striking cattle butchers today while he was directing his assistants to go to other cities, and while he himself was preparing to go to East St. Louis to meet International Vice President Casse Schmidt whom Donnelly will send to Kansas City to look after the labor situation there.

He declared the action of Mayor Harrison in ousting the strike breakers from the housing rooms in the packing houses means victory to the strikers.

Not since the strike began, has President Donnelly seemed so hopeful. He criticized the action of the teamsters in sending a committee to the yards yesterday to make an investigation.

"I don't see what the teamsters expect to do. If they don't like this strike, let them go back to work."

On the subject of action by the Federation of Labor, Donnelly was silent. He simply declared the report would prove a sensation. "A national election is coming on," said President Donnelly. "The labor vote is too powerful to be ignored. As soon as I have seen Schmidt in Kansas City, I shall go to Indianapolis. While I am away, I expect to make several speeches."

"The mayor's action in declaring the packers shall no longer house their strike breakers is the largest dent they have received," said President Donnelly.

"The packers will have no trouble getting the breakers out of the plants and out of the yards. We will help them to do that if they need any help and I will see that the outgoing crowds are not hurt. But as sure as the sun rises, the strike breakers will not be able to get back to their places of work."

Packers affected by Corporation Counsel Tolman's opinion holding that thousands of employees lodged at the stock yards must find accommodations elsewhere called a meeting today at Swift & Co.'s offices to determine what action to take. It was hinted before the meeting that attempts to abolish the living quarters at the packing plants would be contested, recourse being had to the courts if necessary.

The packers declared informally before canvassing the situation that they would contend Major Tolman is mistaken in the premises and that the temporary placing of beds in the plants does not change the character of the buildings any more than the killing of a chicken in a private home would cause evolution of a residence to a slaughter house.

PACKERS

Will Apply to Courts For Injunction Against City's Order.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—The packers will apply to the courts for an injunction to prevent the carrying out of the city's order that strike breakers be no longer housed in the buildings in the stock yards. This was decided on at a meeting of the legal representatives of all the packing firms, save one, that affected by the strike. The meeting was a long one and three courses were considered. One was to the city's order, another was to put the strike breakers in tents and the third and the one finally adopted was to apply for an injunction.

unserled the time. The closing was irregular.

Chicago, Aug. 20. In heated trading on the basis of trade today the price of wheat for May delivery took a fresh jump of two cents a bushel. For a few seconds $1.16 1/4, per bushel was paid freely and in brief time several million bushels changed owners. The source of the strength was emphasized by reports of fresh waves of black rust in the wheat fields of the northwest. The close for May delivery was 1.15 1/4, or 1/2 cent under the top price for the day, and a net advance of 1/4. September was up 1/4 at 1.19 1/4 and December 1/4 at 1.25 1/4.

Wheat Market Little Effect.

London, Aug. 20.—The wheat market continues to be little affected by the excitement in America. The price of American wheat has not advanced since yesterday and remains substantially below the quotations in America. The Indian variety has gone up slightly. Russian wheat has not been affected.

Wall Street Tickings.

New York, Aug. 20.—Wall Street. The opening level of prices in the stock market today was lower than last night, but in the general list ranging from 1-8 to 5-8, the latter in St. Paul, Ontario and Western fell a point. The Smelting stocks, Sugar, Atchison and Erie showed some resistance to the decline.

Profit Taking in Wheat.

New York, Aug. 20.—There was a lot of profit taking in today's wheat market by some of the big people who thought values about high enough for the present but it was so well absorbed by new buyers that prices established fresh high records again. September selling at $1.16 1/4, against $1.13 1/4 last night. Spring wheat news continued bullish and was the principal motive for supporting the market at these high levels.

Touched New High Record.

New York, Aug. 20.—The cash holdings of the associated banks this week touched new high records with a total increase of $361,000,000. Deposits also reached their highest level, aggregating $1,209,570,000.

Clearing House Statement.

New York, Aug. 20.—The statement of averages of clearing house banks of this city for the week shows:

Loans, $1,089,174,400; increase $2,482,000. Deposits, $1,209,570,500, increase $2,438,000. Circulation, $37,611,900, decrease $678,600. Legal tenders, $81,826,000, decrease $833,700.

She says Electric Bitters are just splendid for female troubles; that they are a grand tonic and invigorator for weak, run down women. No other medicine can take its place in our family." Try them. CITY

Of Lucerne, Switzerland, Home
Of William Tell

Visited by the Rev. F. G. Rupert.

Climate Described as Perfectly Delightful Attracts
Many Tourists

From All Parts of the World, Who Go There to Escape the Heat of the Summer
Sun.

Lucerne, July 27, 1904.
Times-Democrat, Lima, Ohio:

I am now in Lucerne, the city of William Tell, of Werner and Winkelried. I saw here a magnificent statue of William Tell, over the Museum of the War and Peace building. Lucerne is proud of Wm. Tell.

This city is situated exactly like Geneva. The beautiful lake Lucerne in the center, the noble river Reuss forming the outlet, and Lucerne on both sides of these, skirted on all sides by lofty mountains. It is situated in the very heart of Switzerland, within easy reach of all that is grandest in the scenery of the Alps, and has a climate that is perfectly ideal.

Some of the cities that I have visited along the Alps are too cold during the summer months, but not so Lucerne. Whilst the air is bracing and cool, yet it is not enough so to chill the blood, nor to make you wish for a warm fire. It is perfectly delightful, and the best proof of this is the fact that Lucerne has three hundred thousand tourists within its gates every year. Since the Gotthard tunnel is completed, many wealthy families from Italy come here year after year to spend the summer, and thus escape the intense heat of their home country. Germans are also everywhere in evidence. I met Prince Albert, second son of Kaiser William, here. There are Counts and Countesses galore. A few days ago I had a long conversation with Count Alton of Germany. Those titled people are very much like other people, after all, and they all seem to have a special deference for the Americans, whom they consider little less than prodigies.

There are many Americans here also. Yesterday I had a boat ride on Lake Lucerne. There were about two persons on board and everybody spoke English so that you could scarcely realize that you were in a foreign country. I met many persons from New Jersey, New York, and a very large party of public school teachers from Philadelphia, spending their summer vacation in Lucerne.

The famous Mount Rigi is 12 miles from this city. You may perhaps recall the fact that this was the first lofty peak of the Alps that was conquered by a railway leading to its top. I was curious enough to make the ascent, even at the risk of a severe headache, which came also on schedule time. The funicular railway to the top of Rigi is very steep, and it takes the train of engine and one car one hour and twenty minutes to reach the summit. This is a broad gauge, six feet wide, made entirely of the very best of steel, even the ties are steel, with steel corks at each end reaching into the rock beneath to keep them from slipping. The whole is bolted together with steel bolts in such a manner that the whole road from bottom to top is actually one piece. Every piece of machinery is double. The cog-wheel bar fastened to the ties is of almost monstrous size. Every precaution for safety is taken, and of course necessarily so, because there is no possibility of escaping alive should any serious accident occur. Brakes of the utmost strength are attached to both car and engine, and each brake has a trusty Switzer standing by it holding the handle, so that in an instant the wheels are completely locked. Every American, with whom I have spoken, admires the solidity of construction, and the scrupulous precaution here taken for the security of the passengers.

Mount Pilatus is just opposite to Rigi, but I will content myself with seeing it from the base. Today I go to Einsiedlen, and tomorrow to the University city of Heidelberg.

Yours respectfully,
F. G. RUPERT

A PHYSICIAN HEALED.

Dr. Geo. Ewing, a practicing physician of Smith's Grove, Ky., for over thirty years, writes his personal experience with Foley's Kidney Cure: "For years I had been greatly troubled with kidney and bladder trouble and enlarged prostate gland. I used everything known to the profession without relief, until I commenced to use Foley's Kidney Cure. After taking three bottles, I was entirely relieved and cured. I prescribe it now daily in my practice and heartily recommend its use to all physicians for such troubles. I have prescribed it in hundreds of cases with perfect success. Many persons in this community are suffering from kidney complaint who could avoid fatal results by using Foley's Kidney Cure. For sale by H. F. Vorkamp and Wm. M. Melville.

ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS GOES UP IN SMOKE NIGHTLY.

The great "feature" of each performance of Pain's "Last Days of Pompeii" spectacle is the $1,000 display of his famous Manhattan Beach fireworks. The question has often been asked representatives of the spectacle, "Do the fireworks really cost one thousand dollars a night?" While the actual cost of manufacturing the nightly display of fireworks used in this big spectacle is probably not definitely known to anyone, but the chief pyrotechnist in charge of their making, there is no question but that a single duplicate display, such as is nightly "fired" by Pain could not be given for less than about $1,000, so the announcement is far nearer the actual truth than are most theatrical claims. The nightly fireworks program includes over 250 pieces—in several occasions over 300—and embraces several aerial and aquatic novelties and huge beautiful "set" pieces exhibited by no other firm. Many of the shells and fancy designs are exact duplicates of those shown by Pain in his great displays at the Chicago World's Fair, the San Francisco mid-winter exposition and at the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo. Were there no other attractions to "Pompeii" but its fireworks, the spectacle would still be worth any man's money to see. "The Last Days of Pompeii" comes to Lima, next Monday night and the engagement continues up to and including Wednesday night also.

It Must Come.

As inevitable as the changing seasons of the year is the change which comes to every woman. And just as one anticipates the change of seasons it is wise to anticipate this change of season and prepare for it. In this way the discomforts and dangers suffered by many women at the period of change can be avoided or overcome.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, a medicine for every case of woman's life, not only meets the needs of woman at this period of change, but cures the physical ills and relieves the mental anxiety and depression usually associated with this critical period. It tranquilizes the nerves, encourages the appetite and induces refreshing sleep.

$500 REWARD!
FOR WOMEN

WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhoea, Female Weakness, Prolapse, or Falling of Womb which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

J. S. Cardale, Esq., of Manchester, Coffee Co., Tenn., writes: "I have been using your medicine for the last sixteen or eighteen years in my Poo-house. I am superintendent of the Coffee County Poor-house and Asylum combined. Your Favorite Prescription, Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Pellets are the best medicines for the diseases for which they are recommended that I ever used. They saved my wife's life at the time of 'change of life.' I have been recommending your medicine to many afflicted women and have also guaranteed that if it did not cure I would pay back the money spent for it. I have told our druggist that if the people came back and said Doctor Pierce's medicines did not give satisfaction, to give them back their money and charge it to me. I have not once been called on to refund, and have never found anything to equal the 'Favorite Prescription' for diseases of women."

COSSACKS SCOUTING AT DAWN.

TRAIN RAN OFF THE BRIDGE.

A half dozen traveling men were waiting in a Connecticut town station the other evening for a train for New York. A fierce storm was raging.

"This is a sorry night to be on the road," remarked the shoe drummer.

"Yes," said the cigar man, "and it was just such a night as this last summer when a train on the road struck a bad place four miles east of here and the next instant ran off the bridge. I was the only passenger on the train to escape with his life."

"What month was that in?" he was asked.

"Later part of July,"

"I fail to recall that week," said one of the crowd.

"So do I," said another.

"How many did you say were killed?" asked the shoe drummer.

"Didn't say any one was killed," replied the cigar man.

"You didn't?" You said you were the only passenger who escaped with his life."

"Certainly. That's easily accounted for," explained the cigar man, looking innocent. "I was the only passenger on the train."

"Ah," That's your game, is it?" said the shoe drummer.

"Hold on, there," said the only one in the party who had not spoken up to this time, as he bustled up in front of the cigar man. "You said the train struck a bad place in the road."

"So it did, but it got over it all right," said the cigar man, "but how about running off the bridge?"

"That's all right. We ran off it after we had crossed it. The story is all right, boys. You can't find any flaw in it," New York Press.

Didn't Read the Papers.

The last man in New York to hear of the Slocum disaster arrived at the Battery pier at 7 o'clock Saturday evening.

"What time does the General Slocum leave for Rockaway?" he asked the gateman.

"What's that?" said the gateman, sharply. He thought his ears had deceived him. But the man repeated his question.

"I've been peck'ing on a trip to Rockaway all the week," he said. "It nater leave from here, but I've been waitin' quite a while, and it don't show up."

"You'll have a good long wait for it, all right," said the astonished gateman. "The Slocum burned and sank with more than 1000 people aboard just a month ago. You'd better wake up."

"You don't say so," returned the inquirer with a faint note of surprise. "Sorry to hear it. Guess I'll have to go by train after all, though I don't like ridin' on the cars now."

"This was too much for the gateman. "Say, you're an odd fish," he exclaimed. "They want you over at the aquarium. Where do you live, anyhow?"

"Right here in New York," the stranger replied, "but I don't get a chance to read the newspapers much."

When the mother tells of what immense salaries her children get, her neighbors remember that their father looks as shabby as ever and works as hard, and wonder at it. ATCHISON GLOBE SIGHTS.

When lively character people do get mad, look out.

Ever remark how a livery horse favors himself?

One of the really great forces in this world is the soft answer.

It is easy to be such a good party man as to make people suspicious.

It is pretty hard to get the members of an amateur brass band together on Saturday.

Not very long after marriage, people begin to look very homesick to be engaged again.

If you harp on your grievance long enough your friends will have one bigger than yours.

The Sphinx remains the only one in the history of the world who has never talked too much.

The pleasant weather this summer is going to interfere a whole lot with revivals next winter.

There is also this in favor of an old fashioned woman's cooking: it doesn't look too pretty to eat.

It sometimes happens that you want to speak well of a man, and all you can say is that he is "willing."

No woman with an income of less than $500 a month should be permitted to wear a dress with a train.

A loving wife frequently says of her fat husband: "He isn't at all well, but he doesn't say anything."

A big fat woman dressed in white is suggestive of two things: a big dry goods bill and a big laundry bill.

How soon a mole hill becomes a mountain, with the aid of a magnifier, and every neighborhood has one.

Do you laugh with the young, or do you laugh at them? The former is the plan if you wish to remain young.

A party cannot properly be referred to as an "evening," unless the hostess had to borrow from the neighbors.

A woman can always think of a dozen things at night that she wants her husband to do "while he is resting."

When a mother goes away on a visit, it is impossible for her to have such a good time that she forgets to write home.

No one ever had enough genius, either inspired or acquired, to avoid saying ill-advised things if he talked at all.

When a man and woman go to the World's Fair together, and visit the same places of interest, which one gave in?

The first thing a woman says when she sees a pup or a kitten, is to ask if it hasn't been taken from its mother too soon.

We know of only one way to make the meat go "round, and it is old fashioned: Make good bread, and double the amount of the gravy.

When we read that a person who was sick a number of years was always patient, we wonder if the same can be said of the attending kin.

A funny man dropped into a restaurant today and after the girl had called off the bill of fare, said: "Bring me snake ears." Ever eat any?

Had singing will earn as much money as good singing. The blind singers who are in town today are so bad that they are paid liberally to move on.

After the baby comes, a man has to have a fit to get as much sympathy from his wife as he received when he scratched his finger before the baby's birth.

It should be a compensating thought to a man who dies and leaves insurance money, that he is benefiting his own sex, for some other man will come along and get it.

You owe something more to your mother than you generally count on. Isn't it something to be grateful for that you were not born in a street car, or on a railroad train?

We would not insist upon making a house girl wear a cap, while on duty, but if we ran a restaurant, we would draw the line at having a man with a beard wait on the table.

You may have wondered what children think about. That's easy. They think they would like to live in houses built of ice cream, with every door knob a soda water fountain.

Women's magazines continue to blame the men for not saying nice things about their wives' cooking, and the men go on thinking that if they eat it, that is compliment enough.

One of the pleasing sights seen by the girls who clerk in the stores, is a farmer and his wife shopping. The farmer's wife picks out, and then shows "him," to see if it suits. He usually says: "O, well, get it; you are the one who has to wear it."

The trouble is, when a girl begins to take singing or piano lessons she thinks that only angels study music, and that everyone should bow down to her. As a matter of fact, music or painting should be studied as you study grammar, or arithmetic, or Latin. No wings go with a woman who can sing, or play, or paint.

AN EVENING SCHOOL FOR EMPLOYED MEN.

"Few people outside those immediately interested realize the growth and extent of the educational work carried on by the Young Men's Christian Association, amounting, as a matter of fact, to the functions of a national university of practical teaching with its branches in every city of the country. The system of administration naturally differs from that of our public schools. Standard courses, it seems, are maintained by international examinations, branches from grammar school to university find legitimate place. Pupils are of all conditions and classes of men. It follows that the classes are composed of men already in the whirl of life past the school room, able to devote only a little time to study, anxious to do all they can, and unwilling to spend time on much that would be unessential. With fifty subjects taught, the courses are certainly adapted to the special needs of the associations."

It is very significant that there are 29,000 men spending on an average of 48 hours of instruction each season, or double the number of ten years ago.

Last year, it seems, 1,529 certificates were won by men in 145 different associations, the movement having so developed in organizations and standard of work done that 110 colleges and universities recognize these certificates for matriculation. The board of examiners certainly presents an array of names that should command confidence, including Judge Sedgwick P. Spencer, of St. Louis; C. W. Haskins, the dean of the School of Commerce, Accounts and Finance, New York; Prof. Dodge, of Clark University; Prof. Bennet, of the University of Michigan; Prof. Thomas, of Columbia University; T. M. Hall, Superintendent of schools, Springfield, Mass.; W. S. Perry, Pratt Institute, Brooklyn; and a dozen others, of equally high repute in educational work.

"Undoubtedly the work, so carefully arranged and so ably conducted, has proven a great stimulus to working young men in directing their thoughts to self-culture and to higher mental attainments. It is easy to believe that thousands of young men occupy good positions which they never could have attained but for the evening classes of the Young Men's Christian Association. Moreover, in addition to its concerted evening school movement, the association wields a powerful educational leverage in its libraries and reading rooms, its "congresses," "topic clubs," and various other well-known forms of educational social work, which are reported in increasing numbers and quality each year. In no way probably could the Young Men's Christian Association have so completely demonstrated its usefulness as by thus becoming a great educational institution without laying aside its religious motive. And it is safe to say that there is no feature of its many sided work so efficient and so sought after as the opportunities for culture."

ONE LIFE WAS LOST

In the Fire That Completely Gutted
the Cambridge Hotel.

A Traveling Man Suffocated

While Endeavoring to Escape From the Burning Building. A Volunteer Fireman Narrowly Escapes Death. Heavy Damage Done to Property.

THE DEAD.
GEORGE BURLAGE, traveling salesman for George Bishop & Co., of Lawrenceburg, Ind., suffocated. Remains taken to Bennett's morgue.

THE INJURED.
JOSEPH McNAIRY, of north McDaniel street, this city, overcome by smoke while assisting firemen. Taken to city hospital.

ESTIMATED LOSSES.
Damage to hotel furniture and other equipment $ 6,500
Damage to hotel buildings 18,000

Total estimated losses, $24,500
The Cambridge hotel, a handsome and popular hotel, situated on north Central street, immediately south of the Pennsylvania railroad passenger depot, was completely gutted by fire this morning, resulting in the death of one of the guests and extensive losses to the hotel property and its contents, practically nothing being saved from any portion of the building except the office and what few articles the escaping guests could carry together in their hurried flight to places of safety.

Many of them only secured a portion of their clothing before being driven out of the burning building by the dense smoke and threatening flames, as reported by the firemen. About twenty-five guests were registered at the hotel for the night and all of them, together with the employees who were sleeping there, were awakened by night clerk George Michael as soon as the fire was discovered. All escaped with the exception of one man who seems to have become unconscious after leaving his room, and about 2 o'clock this morning his lifeless body was found in one of the halls on the second floor of the building, only a short distance from the door of the room he had occupied. The remains were identified as those of George Burlage, a traveling salesman representing George H. Bishop & Company, saw manufacturers, of Lawrenceburg, Ind.

Joe McNairy, a well known young man who resides on north McDowell street, while assisting the members of the fire department in the battle with the fire, was overcome by the dense smoke about the time the dead body of Burlage was found, and his prompt rescue from the building alone saved him from sharing the fate of the unfortunate traveling man.

FIRE STARTED
In the Kitchen of the Hotel Annex and the Flames Spread Rapidly.

The fire seems to have started in the kitchen department of the hotel annex, a three-story frame structure which adjoins the main building, a four-story brick structure, on the east. The origin of the fire is a mystery at first. It was supposed, having been out since supper time in the early evening. At 12:20 o'clock, E. L. Noff, steam fitter, Ira Langenecker and Walter Altshuler, who had been playing with the Eagle orchestra at the McCulloch pavilion, and were returning to the park after having eaten a lunch at the C. H. & D. restaurant, noticed the odor of smoke from burning wood in the vicinity of the depot but could not detect the source and continued on their way. About 10 minutes later, policeman Sullivan and Fireman No. 1 saw a sheet of flame shoot from the Hotel Cambridge annex and the latter telephoned an alarm to the central fire department. The central and north side departments were called out and the battle began about 12:20 o'clock this morning. It proved to be one of the hardest fights the department has had for many months and the most of an aerial truck was again demonstrated. Until the water works station was able to furnish additional pressure the firemen were greatly handicapped by a lack of force from all of the streams except those that were forced from the big steamer and the fire, having communicated to the upper floors of the main building, could not be reached from the outside except by two ladders that were taken into two of the upper windows on two extension ladders. The work of rescuing the inmates of the building, twelve or fifteen of whom were assisted out of the hotel by the firemen, was also made difficult by reason of the lack of equipment in the department. Shortly after 1 o'clock Chief Coates called out the south side department and when the fire had reached its height seven lines of hose were in use, five being run from the steamer and two direct from a hydrant. An additional engine was pressed into service at the water works station and the pressure of water from this source was much better than at any other recent fire. The flames, however, had found ready fuel in the timbers of the old frame annex and had gained such headway that the frame building was practically destroyed and the brick structure was gutted, before the fire was brought under control.

FIREMAN STEIN
Found the Body of the Unfortunate Traveling Man in a Hall.

Shortly before 2 o'clock this morning, Fireman Frank Stein, of the central fire department, while endeavoring to run a second line of hose through the second story of the main building, stumbled over the body of the unfortunate Burlage in one of the halls. He promptly called assistance and the body was carried to the Pennsylvania depot where, at first, the dead man was identified as Thomas Carney, an employee at the C. H. & D. shops, the resemblance being remarkable. Two policemen hurried to the home of the Carney family, on north West street, to convey the startling intelligence that Mr. Carney was dead, but were informed that Mr. Carney was alive and well and had been in his own bed at home since 8 o'clock in the evening.

Eckert & Son's ambulance had been called to take the remains of the dead man from the scene of the fire and on its arrival it was found that Joe McNairy had been overcome by smoke and was possibly in a dangerous condition. Consequently McNairy was placed in the ambulance in order that a might be taken immediately to the hospital to receive proper attention, and the body of the dead man was removed to the Bennett morgue. McNairy received prompt medical attention and by this afternoon, was sufficiently recovered to be discharged from the hospital.

EVIDENCE TAKEN
Which Leads to an Identity of the Unfortunate Victim.

Justice Reilly, who is acting as coroner in the absence of Dr. Rice, called at Bennett's morgue this morning and took an inventory of the personal effects of the man who lost his life as a result of the fire. From the description taken he measures 5 feet, 8 inches in height, weighs about 150 pounds and is about fifty years of age. He has brown eyes and brown hair, slightly tinged with gray, and his teeth are in fairly good condition. Only two marks were found on the body, a slight burn on the forehead and a blister which stripped his right ear of the skin.

He was attired in a complete suit of black worsted and the only valuables were $34.35 in money, a Loan mortgage book issued by the C. H. & D., from which 795 miles had been taken, and a solid gold watch, bearing an inscription which proves that it was a present from his wife on Christmas day, 1892. A pair of gold spectacles in a leather case and some other minor effects, including cards and other advertising matter, were added to the list.

Two stamped aluminum pieces taken from a slot machine, are the only means of giving a clue to his address. One bears his name, "George Burlage, Elmwood Place, O." and another, "Louis Burlage, Lawrence, Ind." who is supposed to be either a son or near relative.

An unfinished letter to his wife was written on stationery from the Steinberg hotel at Wapakoneta. It was addressed: "Dear wife," and read as follows: "Your letter received at Lima. Glad to hear you are well," and there it was broken off. The letter was dated at Lima, August 19, and must have been started shortly after his arrival in the city yesterday.

His religious principles are deduced by an insignia of the Catholic church, which he wore round his neck, but there were no cards or emblems which allied him to the Traveling Men's Association or any private order.

According to the clerk at the Cambridge, Mr. Burlage registered and went to his room about 5 o'clock yesterday evening. He was not seen again until his body was found in the hall. When discovered, he was fully dressed, indicating that he had either gone to bed with his clothes on or had taken careful measures in attiring himself before he started to leave the building. From the location of the body it is evident that he became confused, or was so blinded by the dense smoke, that he lost his bearings and wandered in the direction opposite from the stairway which led to the lobby of the hotel. He was consigned to room No. 12 on the second floor which, under ordinary conditions, was in easy access of a descent to a point of safety.

THE BODY
Of the Deceased Traveler Will Be Sent to Elmwood Place.

This afternoon, in reply to a message sent from this city, a telegram was received from Lawrenceburg, Ind., from a relative of Geo. Burlage, the dead victim of the fire, directing that the body be given all of the attention necessary and then shipped to Elmwood Place, near Cincinnati. The body will be sent to that place tonight.

THE LOSSES
Are Quite Heavy and Will be Only Partly Covered by Insurance.

The hotel property is owned by the Enrick heirs—Fred E. Herold and two sisters—and was under lease to Mr. C. K. DeVries, a veteran hotel man who came here about three months ago, from Wheeling, W. Va., and purchased the hotel from his former proprietor, Mr. A. S. Manhard. Mr. DeVries and his wife were asleep in the annex when the former was awakened by the crackling of the fire and they barely had time to attire themselves scantily in street clothes before the smoke and heat became suffocating. After getting Mrs. DeVries safely into the Pennsylvania depot, Mr. DeVries remembered Mr. Burlage and sent his day clerk to his room, fearing that he was sick, because of his failure to leave his room during the evening. The clerk found the room vacated and supposed Mr. Burlage had escaped. The main building was then filled with smoke and flames, and another traveling man, in front of whose door Burlage was found, was taken out of the building through a window.

When seen today, Mr. Herold, who represents the owners of the hotel property, and proprietor DeVries, were deeply grieved over the death of Mr. Burlage and stated that they had given the extent of the losses but little thought. The loss to Mr. DeVries is estimated at $6500 and that on the buildings is estimated at from $15,000 to $18,000. Neither of the parties losses is believed to be fully covered by the insurance carried.

TREASURERS
ISSUE DEFI.

Have Decided to Use Such System
of Accounting as They See Fit.

Columbus, Aug. 20.—The county treasurers of state have decided to use only so much of the new auditing system of accounting as suits their purpose, thus defying the state bureau of public accounting which the law empowers to enforce a system of book keeping for public officials.

The action of the treasurers was taken in secret session following the closing of the school of instruction which the bureau had been conducting for two days in the hall of the house of representatives. Their action means a clash, for every treasurer who refuses to follow the new system will be checked up by the bureau.

WET GROUNDS
Prevented Today's Game
With Paulding Team.

The ball game booked between the Paulding and Lima teams today at Wheeler park this afternoon had to be called off on account of wet grounds, but the two teams will play tomorrow as scheduled. The outfield was found to be in such condition as to prohibit the contest, and it is a disappointment to both the team and the fans, as a fast game was sure to be the result.

Futures vs. Pirates.
The Lima Futures have secured a game with the Pirates for tomorrow afternoon on the Haller street grounds, and a good game is expected as both teams are playing fine ball this season. The Futures having defeated every other amateur team in the city, are confident of victory, while the Pirates have only lost three games out of about 12. Batteries will probably be Pirates—Coahol and Claybaugh; Futures—Riley and Shaffer. Game called at 3 o'clock.

RESOLUTIONS.
Whereas, it has pleased God in His infinite wisdom to remove from our midst, our dear sister, Nettie Ward, a past vice-grand of Stella Lodge, who died Aug. 18th, 1904.
